

NOTE.—I have been informed, (but have not seen it myself,) that Atticus has acknowledged in a subsequent publication, his misrepresentation of the Pettit Jury Bill, in what he said about Grand Jurors; but not before he was exposed by a writer in the 'Chronicle.' That it may not be thought I treated Atticus unfairly in not noticing his recantation, it is proper to say, that this address was written, before this acknowledgement was made, that the Bill did not include Grand Jurors, as he asserted.
