

We have received from a distinguished gentleman of Virginia,—long and closely conversant with political economy,—three articles concerning Judge Clayton's Anti-Bank report, of which we insert this morning in a preceding column. The author of them is entirely independent on the Bank of the United States. He has no connexion with it whatever. They were written before he had seen the reports of Mr. M'Duffie and Mr. Adams.