

---

Judge Clayton was sometime since, charged by the Albany Argus, with bribery and corruption, because, as it was alleged, he had changed his views with regard to the Bank of the United States. It turns out that the Judge has not changed his views at all, and hence the charge of bribery, &c. like most of the similar charges that emanate from the Albany Argus, turns out to be a slander, and that too upon one of the most zealous friends of the administration.