

Judge Clayton remarked in Congress on Thursday last, that the President has in fact just created a Bank of the United States by forming into one a certain number of State Banks.