

Judge Clayton's Address.—The remarks of his Hon. Judge Clayton in passing sentence upon the Missionaries, may be seen on reference to our last page. They furnish in our opinion an unanswerable argument in favor of the justice of the course Georgia has pursued, and are addressed in a spirit of convincing mildness. He not only shows them guilty of a violation of law, but proves their conduct inconsistent and unjust, from their own professions of faith and practice. By their own law he condemns them. The remarks need only to be read, to carry conviction of their truth to the mind of every impartial and intelligent man, or every rational Christian.
