

The Indian Council which assembled in the Creek Nation on the 13th ult. has adjourned. The object of its meeting was to take into consideration the propriety of the emigration west of the Mississippi river, in accordance with the views of the Government, as expressed in the recent talk of President Jackson to the Creek Indians. The council has requested the Agent Col. Crowell, to apprise the President of the positive determination of the Nation not to relinquish its present territory, but to remain and submit to the laws of Alabama. Commissioners have been appointed on the part of Alabama to take the Census of the Nation; and have proceeded considerably in the business of their appointments.

We have been quite recently informed that Governor Carroll of Tennessee has been appointed by the President of the U. S. to visit the Creek and Cherokee Nations to learn their views in relation to emigration, and ascertain distinctly from them whether they would meet a delegation on the part of the United States with a disposition to treat and if so, to apprise them that one would immediately be deputed to meet a delegation on their part. We have also learned that Governor Carroll has visited the Cherokees, apprised them of the object of his mission, and been informed by them that a delegation from the Cherokee nation would not be appointed to meet a delegation on the part of the United States, if such an one should be commissioned, and that on no terms would they consent to a relinquishment of their lands. As the Legislature of Tennessee convenes in a few weeks, we understand the Governor has deferred his trip to the Creek Nation until winter. From the spirit exhibited at the Indian Council the same answer will probably be given to the United States Commissioner by the Creeks, as he received from the Cherokees. — Columbus Enq.
