

Gov. Gilmer transmitted to the Legislature just before the close of the session a report of the Commissioners appointed to take testimony upon the subject of the boundary line between the Creek and Cherokee territories, accompanied by a message in which he recommends the most liberal and forbearing course in relation to our right to the territory in dispute. Able documents have very much accumulated on our hands within the last ten or three weeks, which we will endeavor to dispose of in our future numbers.