

ATTICUS.

UPON the solicitation of some, and the expected encouragement of others, we have been inclined to re-publish, in Pamphlet form, the Essays of "ATTICUS." We conceive that this step has become the more necessary, as many of the facts and principles contained in those numbers, afford the best refutation of the doctrines and statements lately presented to the public, in that most extraordinary volume of more than eight hundred pages, bearing the title of Everett's Report.

The work we design to publish will be prefaced by an address to the people of Georgia, from the same Author, on the outrages and insults offered to them by the Administration, in the publication of the aforesaid volume, but particularly in the unprincipled infamous Report of T. P. Andrews, Special Agent, contained in that book; of which due notice will be taken. If sufficient encouragement is given us, the Pamphlet we propose to publish, will be out in a few weeks, and to the end, that we may know whether we can attempt it without loss, a subscription will be opened at this Office, where, all who choose to patronize the undertaking, may have an opportunity of so doing, by personal application, or letter addressed (post-paid) to the Editor.
