

GEORGIA.

CHAPTER 1.—NUMBER OF INHABITANTS.

Introduction.—This chapter gives the population of Georgia, by counties and minor civil divisions, as enumerated at the Thirteenth Census, taken as of April 15, 1910, with comparative statements of population where possible, and a statement and discussion for the state as a whole of the population living in urban and in rural territory. The statistics are given in detail in two general tables.

Table 1 (p. 342) shows the population of Georgia, distributed according to counties and minor civil divisions, at the last three censuses, namely, those of 1910, 1900, and 1890. In this table the counties are arranged alphabetically, while the primary divisions in each county are given in numerical order. The figures for secondary divisions for the most part are printed in italics. The changes in boundaries, name, or form of organization that have taken place since 1900 are indicated in the footnotes to the table. For changes between 1890 and 1900 reference must be made to the census report of 1900.

It may be noticed that the county totals as given in Table 1 for 1900 and 1890 sometimes exceed the aggregate population of the minor civil divisions as shown in the table. This is for the most part due to the territorial changes that have been made in the minor civil divisions of certain counties, and to the formation of new counties, since 1900. In a few cases divisions returned separately at the census of 1910 were not so returned at the census of 1890.

Table 2 (p. 360) shows the cities and the incorporated towns and villages of Georgia, alphabetically arranged, with their population in 1910, 1900, and 1890.

The population of Georgia, by counties, at each of the last five censuses, from 1870 to 1910, inclusive; the increase during the last two decades; the density of the total and the rural population at the census of 1910; and the distribution of the population at the last two censuses according to urban and rural districts, are given in Table I of Chapter 2.

The tables and text of the present chapter contain few technical expressions whose meaning is not apparent. The census usage in regard to certain terms is, however, explained below:

Density of population.—The density of population of a state or county is obtained by dividing its total population by the number of square miles in its land area. In calculating the density of rural population, the same divisor is used as it is not practicable to ascertain and deduct the exact area covered by the urban districts, and even if this could be done with accuracy the deduction of this area from the total land area would ordinarily make no appreciable difference in the resulting quotient.

Minor civil divisions.—The counties are divided generally into smaller political units which bear different designations in the different parts of the country, such as towns, townships, election precincts, militia districts, etc. Of these minor civil divisions those which rank next to the county as geographic areas are termed primary divisions. In many instances, however, these primary divisions contain political units of still smaller area, such as cities, incorporated villages, towns, or boroughs. These smaller political units are referred to as secondary divisions.

Urban and rural population defined.—The Census Bureau, for purposes of discussion, has defined urban population as that residing in cities and other incorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more, and rural population as that residing outside of such incorporated places.

The comparisons of the urban and rural population in 1910 with that at earlier enumerations may be made either with respect to the varying proportions of the two classes at successive enumerations or with respect to the increase between enumerations. In order to contrast the proportion of the total population living in urban or rural territory at the census of 1910 with the proportion urban or rural at the preceding census, it is necessary to classify the territory according to the conditions as they existed at each census. In this comparison a place having less than 2,500 inhabitants in 1900 and over 2,500 in 1910 is classed with the rural population for 1900 and HISTORICAL NOTE.—Georgia, the last of the thirteen original colonies in order of settlement, was named in honor of George II of England.

The region now forming this state was first explored in 1540, when De Soto, a Spaniard, traversed it on his way from Florida to the Mississippi. French explorers also visited this region within the next 25 years, but no permanent settlements were made by either the French or the Spanish. Mining operations, however, were begun by the Spanish in 1560 and continued during a period of more than a hundred years.

The greater part of what is now Georgia was included in the Carolina grant of 1663 and all was included in the Carolina grant of 1665 made by King Charles II to the proprietors of Carolina. No settlements within the present limits of the state were made under these grants, and in 1729 seven of the eight proprietors sold their shares of the territory to the English Crown. In June, 1732, the "Trustees for Establishing the Colony of Georgia in America" obtained a royal charter granting them all the lands between the Savannah and the Altamaha, and from the heads of these rivers to the Pacific Ocean. Twelve years later Lord Carteret sold to the trustees the remaining eighth of the Carolina grant.

The first settlement within the limits of what is now Georgia was made at Savannah in February, 1733, by colonists under James Oglethorpe, one of the trustees.

One of the objects of the colony was to provide a refuge for the oppressed and the destitute, especially poor debtors, orphans, friendless children and youth, and sufferers from religious persecution in Germany and other continental countries.

In 1763 the charter of the trustees expired and Georgia became a royal province, with the St. Marys River as the southern boundary. South Carolina, however, did not relinquish its claim to the tract between the Altamaha and St. Marys Rivers until 1787.

At the close of the Revolution the territory claimed by Georgia extended westward to the Mississippi. In 1798 the area now in Alabama and Mississippi north of the thirty-first parallel and south of the latitude of the mouth of the Yazoo (about 32° 30') was organized as the territory of Mississippi. In 1802 Georgia ceded to the United States all its claims to the region between its present western boundary and the Mississippi; and at the same time the northern boundary of the state, which had been a few miles south of the thirty-fifth parallel, was fixed at that line. Since 1802 the boundaries of the state have remained unchanged.

The Indian claims to lands in Georgia were relinquished at various times between the close of the Revolution and the year 1835.

Georgia was one of the thirteen original colonies. It adopted a state constitution in 1777, and ratified the Federal Constitution in 1788.

with the urban for 1910. On the other hand, in order to present fairly the contrast between urban and rural communities, as regards their rate of growth, it is necessary to consider the changes in population for the same territory which have occurred from one decennial census to another. For this purpose the territory which in 1910 was urban or rural, as the case may be, is taken as the basis, and the population in 1900 for the same territory (so far as separately reported at that census) is presented, even though part of the territory may, on the basis of its population at the earlier census, have then been in a different class. This avoids the disturbing effect on comparisons which would arise from the passage, for example, of communities formerly classed as rural into the urban group. These two distinct forms of comparison are made in Table I of Chapter 2 for the state as a whole and for each county separately for the last two censuses.

TOTAL POPULATION, INCREASE, AND DISTRIBUTION.

Population of the state.—The population of Georgia is 2,609,121. Compared with a population of 2,216,331 in 1900, this represents an increase during the last decade of 392,790, or 17.7 per cent. During the same period the total population of the United States increased 21 per cent. The growth of the state during this decade was somewhat slower than during the preceding decade, 1890–1900, when the rate was 20.6 per cent.

The following table shows the population of Georgia at each census from 1790 to 1910, inclusive, together with the increase and per cent of increase during each decade, in comparison with the per cent of increase for the United States as a whole.

1800.....	162,686	80,138	97.1	35.1
1790.....	82,548

It will be noticed from this table that during the first six decades the rate of growth was much higher than during the last six. During the first 60 years, 1790–1850, the rate of increase did not fall below 31 per cent in any decade, and the population at the end of the period was nearly eleven times as great as at the beginning. During the last 60 years, 1850–1910, the rates of increase ranged from 12 per cent to 30.2 per cent, and the population in 1910 was somewhat less than three times that of 1850. The numerical increase during the last decade was larger than that shown for any previous decade.

A comparison of the rates of increase for the state with those for the United States, as given in the above table, shows that during each decade from 1790 to 1840 the rate of increase for the state was higher than the rate for the United States. Since 1840 the rate of increase for the state has been lower than the rate for the country as a whole, except for the decade 1870–1880, when the rates were nearly identical, that of the state, however, being slightly the larger. The population of the state in 1910 was a little more than thirty-one and one-half times as large as in 1790, when the First Census was taken, while the population of the United States in 1910 was twenty-three times that in 1790.

Principal cities.—Georgia has 116 cities. Atlanta, the largest, has a population of 154,839, and Savannah, the second city, a population of 65,064. Augusta, Macon, and Columbus, with 41,040, 40,665, and 20,554 inhabitants, respectively, are the only other cities in the state having over 20,000 inhabitants. There are also 4 cities having from 10,000 to 20,000, 13 having from 5,000 to 10,000, 13 having from 2,500 to 5,000, and 81 having less than 2,500 inhabitants.

Table 2 shows the population in 1910 of all the cities of the state with comparative figures, where possible, for 1900 and 1890. The table on page 337 shows the population of the five cities having in 1910 over 20,000 inhabitants, as reported at each census since their incorporation either as cities or towns, so far as figures are available, together with the increase during each decade.

Of the cities included in this table, Macon shows the highest rate of increase during the last decade, namely, 74.7 per cent, and Augusta the lowest, 4.1 per cent. Two cities, Savannah and Augusta, show a lower rate of increase for the last decade, 1900–1910, than for the preceding one, 1890–1900.

Atlanta has shown a very rapid growth since its incorporation, the rate of increase being over 70 per cent for every decade except 1890–1900, when it was only 37.1 per cent. The absolute increase during the last decade was very nearly as great as the total population of the city in 1890.

Counties.—Georgia has 146 counties. The population of these counties ranges from 3,309 in Echols County to 177,733 in Fulton County.

The following territorial changes have been made in the counties of Georgia since 1900: Part of Jasper has been annexed to Newton; part of Oglethorpe was annexed in 1906 to Clarke; part of Clayton was annexed in 1908 to Fulton; part of Dooly was taken in 1905 to form Crisp; parts of Dooly, Irwin, Wilcox, and Worth were taken in 1905 to form Turner; parts of Irwin and Wilcox were taken in 1906 to form Ben Hill; parts of Berrien, Irwin, and Worth were taken in 1905 to form Tift; parts of Bulloch, Burke, Emanuel, and Screven were taken in 1905 to form Jenkins; parts of Emanuel, Montgomery, and Tattnall were taken in 1905 to form Toombs; parts of Appling and Coffee were taken in 1905 to form Jeff Davis; parts of Franklin and Habersham were taken in 1905 to form Stephens; and parts of Decatur and Thomas were taken in 1905 to form Grady.

Owing to the organization since 1900 of nine new counties from parts of other counties as shown above, the comparison of increase or decrease in population is made for only 120 counties and for five combinations of counties. The counties combined in order to determine their actual rates of increase are Decatur, Thomas, and Grady; Appling, Coffee, and Jeff Davis; Franklin, Habersham, and Stephens; Ben Hill, Tift, Turner, Crisp, Irwin, Wilcox, Berrien, Worth, and Dooly; and Jenkins, Bulloch, Burke, Emanuel, Screven, Toombs, Montgomery, and Tattnall. Ninety-five counties and the five combinations of counties increased in population during the last decade, while 25 counties decreased in population. The rates of increase for the counties which do not enter into the combinations and which show increases, range from one-tenth of 1 per cent in Heard County to 66.8 per cent in Ware County, and the absolute increases of the same group of counties range from 12 in Heard County to 60,370 in Fulton County. The combinations of counties show rates of increase ranging from 20.6 to 52.4 per cent. The rates of decrease for the counties which do not enter into the combinations and which show decreases range from two-tenths of 1 per cent in Washington County to 26.8 per cent in Lumpkin County, and the absolute decreases of the same group of counties range from 53 in Washington County to 2,419 in Stewart County. The aggregate increase of population from 1900 to 1910 in the five combinations of counties and in the 95 remaining counties that showed increases was 411,324; the aggregate decrease of population in the 25 counties that showed decreases was 18,534. The difference, 392,790, is, of course, the total increase of population in the state.

The maps on page 340 show the increase or decrease in the total and the rural population, respectively, of each county of Georgia during the last decade. In the counties shown in white the population decreased; for the other counties the different rates of increase are indicated by differences in shading.

Density of population.—The total land area of the state is 58,725 square miles. The average number of persons to the square mile in 1910 was 44.4; in 1900 and 1890 it was 37.7 and 31.3, respectively. The average number per square mile for the United States as a whole in 1910 was 30.9.

The density of population is given by counties in Table I of Chapter 2 and in the maps on page 341, both for the entire population and for that living in rural territory, excluding in the latter case the population of places of 2,500 inhabitants or more, but not excluding the land area of such places.

Clinch County, with 961 square miles, has the largest area, and Clarke County, with 114 square miles, has the smallest area. Fulton County, containing all of Atlanta city except part of one ward, has the highest density of any county, namely, 971.2 persons per square mile, while Charlton County, with 5.2 persons per square mile, has the lowest density.

Minor civil divisions.—The political divisions into which counties are subdivided are collectively termed "Minor civil divisions." In Georgia the counties are divided into 1,558 primary divisions, comprising that number of militia districts. There are also 561 secondary divisions, comprising 116 cities, 427 incorporated towns, and 18 incorporated villages. These secondary divisions usually form parts of the militia districts in which they are wholly or partly located, but 5 cities and 1 town are coextensive with one or more militia districts, while 2 cities each comprise 2 militia districts and parts of others.

Urban and rural population compared.—The following table presents the population of Georgia at the censuses of 1910, 1900, and 1890, respectively, distributed among places grouped according to specified limits of population, together with the percentage of the total population contained in each group at each of the censuses named. The classification is based upon the population of each place as it existed at each census.

As shown by the above table, the urban territory of the state in 1910—that is, the cities and incorporated towns having 2,500 inhabitants or more—contained 538,650 inhabitants, or 20.6 per cent of the total population, while 2,070,471 inhabitants, or 79.4 per cent, lived in rural territory. The urban territory as it existed in 1900—that is, the cities and incorporated towns then having 2,500 inhabitants or more—contained 346,382 inhabitants, or 15.6 per cent of the total population, while 1,869,949 inhabitants, or 84.4 per cent, lived in rural territory. There has thus been a considerable increase in the proportion of urban population. For the United States as a whole the urban population constituted 46.3 per cent of the total population in 1910 and 40.5 per cent of the total population in 1900.

In 1910 the two cities then having more than 50,000 inhabitants each, Atlanta and Savannah, contained 8.4 per cent of the total population of the state. The corresponding percentage for 1900 was 6.5, while in 1890 Atlanta, the only city having over 50,000 inhabitants, comprised 3.6 per cent of the total population of the state. The combined population of the groups of urban places having less than 50,000 inhabitants each comprised 12.2, 9.1, and 10.4 per cent of the total population of the state at the censuses of 1910, 1900, and 1890, respectively.

In 1910 the urban population of the state was contained in 35 cities and 10 towns, while the rural population was in 516 incorporated places of less than 2,500 inhabitants each and in the unincorporated territory. The 516 places of less than 2,500 inhabitants each had an aggregate population of 285,803, constituting 11 per cent of the total population of the state. These places comprise 85 having from 1,000 to 2,500 inhabitants each, with a combined population of 131,865; 101 having from 500 to 1,000 inhabitants each, with a combined population of 70,974; and 330 having less than 500 inhabitants each, with a combined population of 82,964. The population living in unincorporated territory constitutes 68.4 per cent of the total population of the state.

The above table shows further that in all incorporated places, including those of less than 2,500 inhabitants, there was in 1910 a population of 824,453, or 31.6 per cent of the population of the state. The population of all incorporated places, as they existed in 1900, was 540,062, or 24.4 per cent of the population of the state.

Table I of Chapter 2 shows that 21 counties and two combinations of counties had a larger proportion and 6 counties a smaller proportion of urban population in 1910 than in 1900. Nine counties and three combinations of counties which were wholly rural in 1900 were partly urban in 1910, while 84 counties were wholly rural at both censuses.

In order to compare the rate of growth in urban and rural communities it is necessary in each case, as previously explained, to consider the changes in population which have occurred in the same territory from one decennial census to another. With this end in view places classed as urban or rural according to their population in 1910 are taken as a basis and the aggregate population in 1910 and in 1900 of the same places is then compared. Thus, as shown in the next table, the total population in 1910 of the cities and towns which at that time had 2,500 inhabitants or more was 538,650; in 1900 the total population of the same places was 376,052. It may be noted that the latter figure exceeds the total population in 1900 of those cities and towns which at that time had over 2,500 inhabitants each, 346,382 (see table on p. 338), by 29,670. The difference is the result of the passage, since 1900, of certain communities from the rural to the urban class, and of annexations of territory during the same period.

A comparison of the total population in 1910 of cities and towns having a population of not less than 2,500 each with the total population of the same places in 1900, as given in the next table, shows an increase of 43.2 per cent. This represents the rate of growth of urban communities as thus defined. During the same period the rural population, comprising that of the remainder of the state, increased 12.5 per cent. The population of urban areas thus increased about three and one-half times as fast as rural. For the United States as a whole urban population increased 34.8 per cent in the last decade and rural population 11.2 per cent.

In the following table the population for the state as a whole is distributed so as to show, for 1910 and 1900, the population of the city of Atlanta, the combined population of the other cities having in 1910 over 25,000 inhabitants, the combined population of cities and towns having from 2,500 to 25,000 inhabitants, and the population of the remainder of the state.

CLASS OF PLACES.	POPULATION.		INCREASE: 1900-1910.
	1910	1900	Number.	Per cent.
The state	2,609,121	2,216,331	392,790	17.7
Urban territory in 1910.....	538,650	376,052	162,598	43.2
City of Atlanta.....	154,839	92,203	62,636	67.9
Other cities of 25,000 inhabitants or more in 1910.....	146,769	116,957	29,812	25.5
Cities and towns of 2,500 to 25,000 inhabitants in 1910.....	237,042	166,892	70,150	42.0
Remainder of the state.....	2,070,471	1,840,279	230,192	12.5

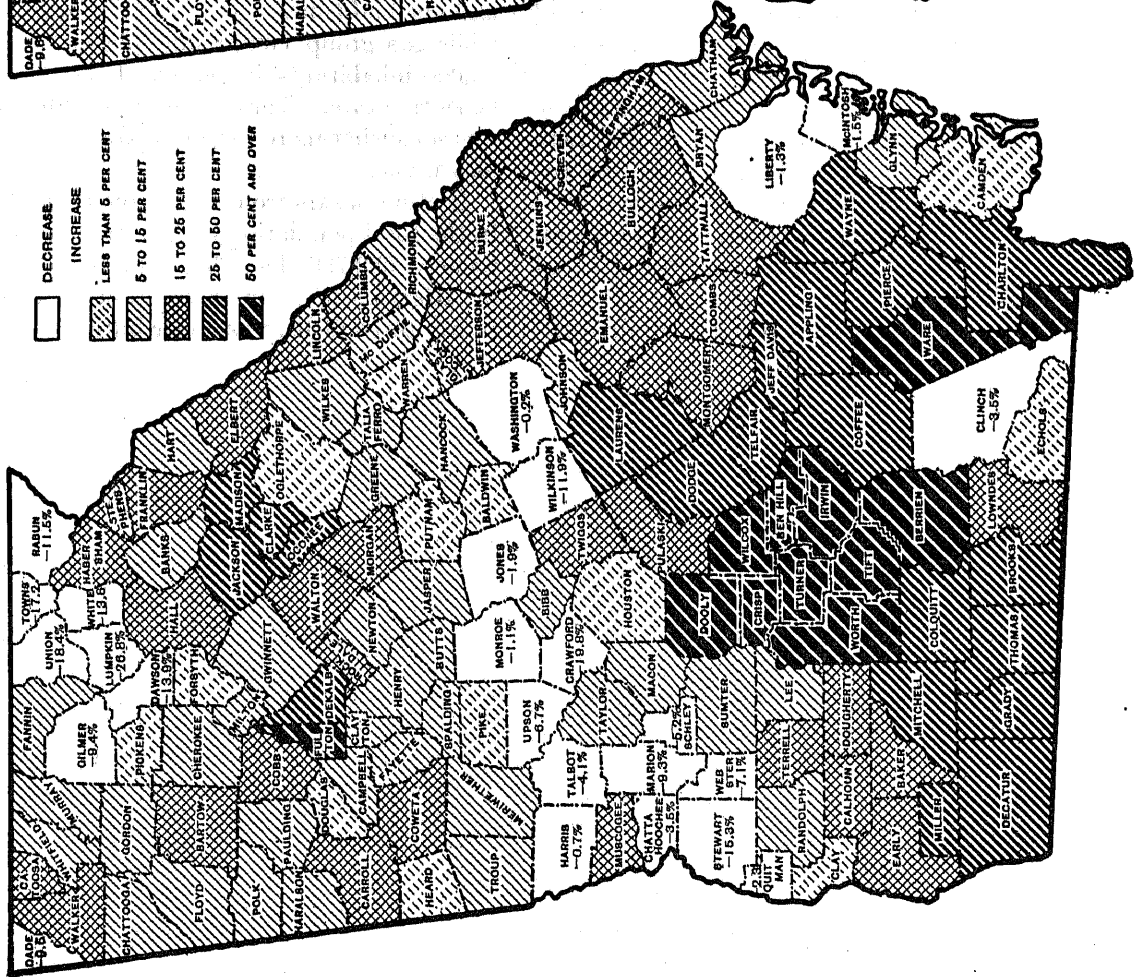

From this table it appears that the city of Atlanta increased in population during the last decade less than four times as rapidly as the state as a whole. The growth of the remaining urban territory was less rapid than that shown for Atlanta. The group comprising places of over 25,000 inhabitants increased nearly one and one-half times the rate for the state as a whole, while the group comprising places of from 2,500 to 25,000 inhabitants increased almost two and one-half times that rate. The rate of increase for rural territory was somewhat more than two-thirds that for the state as a whole.

It also appears from this table that of the increase in the total population of the state during the decade, namely, 392,790, less than one-sixth was in the city of Atlanta. The larger fraction of this increase, or nearly three-fifths, was contributed by rural territory.

CHAPTER 2.—COMPOSITION AND CHARACTERISTICS OF THE POPULATION.

Introduction.—The first chapter having given the number of inhabitants of Georgia by counties and minor civil divisions, the decennial increase and the density of population, and the proportions urban and rural, the present chapter deals with the composition and characteristics of the population. The two chapters cover all the principal topics of the population census except occupations and ownership of homes.

Description of the tables.—The greater part of this chapter consists of five general tables, which present statistics of color, nativity, parentage, sex, citizenship, illiteracy, school attendance, and dwellings and families, as follows: Table I for the state and counties; Table II for cities of more than 25,000 inhabitants; Table III for cities of 10,000 to 25,000; Table IV for places of 2,500 to 10,000; and Table V for wards of Atlanta.

A series of summary tables (numbered 1 to 15) reproduces from the general tables the more important state and city totals, and presents also certain additional data relative to state of birth, age, and marital condition.

On account of the wide differences in characteristics among the different classes of the population, the statistics on each subject are shown according to race, and for the whites according to nativity and parentage. Classification according to nativity and parentage is scarcely necessary for the other races, since nearly all negroes and Indians are native born of native parentage, and nearly all Chinese and Japanese either foreign born or of foreign parentage.

The white population is divided into four groups: (1) Native, native parentage—that is, having both parents born in the United States; (2) native, foreign parentage—having both parents born abroad; (3) native, mixed parentage—having one parent native and the other foreign born; (4) foreign born. As the second and third classes do not differ greatly in characteristics, they are combined in some of the tables; in a few cases all three native white classes are combined.

Since marked differences often exist between urban and rural communities with respect to the composition and characteristics of the population, the two classes are distinguished in connection with several of the subjects. Urban population, as defined by the Bureau of the Census, includes that of all incorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more, the remainder being classified as rural.

The census inquiry as to school attendance was merely as to whether the person enumerated had attended any kind of school at any time between September 1, 1909, and the date of enumeration, April 15, 1910.

The Census Bureau classifies as illiterate any person 10 years of age or over who is unable to write, regardless of ability to read.

Color and nativity (Table 1).—Of the total population of Georgia, 1,431,802, or 54.9 per cent, are whites, and 1,176,987, or 45.1 per cent, negroes. The corresponding percentages in 1900 were 53.3 and 46.7, respectively. In 49 of the 146 counties negroes constitute from 25 to 50 per cent of the population, and in 66 counties the population is more than 50 per cent negro. (See map on page 405.)

Native whites of native parentage constitute 53.3 per cent of the total population of the state, and 97.2 per cent of the white population. Native whites of foreign or mixed parentage constitute only 1 per cent of the total population, and foreign-born whites 0.6 per cent.

Of the urban population, 52.4 per cent are native whites of native parentage; of the rural, 53.5 per cent. The corresponding proportions for native whites of foreign or mixed parentage are 3.6 and 0.3 per cent, respectively. The percentage of foreign-born whites is 2.2 in the urban population and 0.2 in the rural; the percentage of negroes is 41.7 in the urban and 46 in the rural.

Sex (Table 2).—In the total population of the state there are 1,305,019 males and 1,304,102 females, or 100.1 males to 100 females. In 1900 the ratio was 99.1 to 100. Among the whites there are 102.4 males to 100 females; among the negroes, 97.2. Among native whites the ratio is 101.9 to 100, as compared with 171.4 to 100 for the foreign-born whites. In the urban population there are 92.6 males to 100 females, and in the rural, 102.1.

State of birth (Tables 3 and 4).—Of the total native population—that is, population born in the United States—91.2 per cent were born in Georgia and 8.8 per cent outside the state; of the native white population, 10.6 per cent were born outside the state, and of the native negro, 6.8 per cent. Persons born outside the state constitute a much larger proportion of the native population in urban than in rural communities.

Foreign nationalities (Tables 5 and 12).—Of the foreign-born white population of Georgia, persons born in Russia represent 21.4 per cent; Germany, 20.1; Ireland, 11; England, 10.9; Greece, 6.2; Canada, 5.2; Italy, 3.6; Scotland, 3.5; Turkey, 3.2; all other countries, 14.9 per cent. Of the total white stock of foreign origin, which includes persons born abroad and also natives having one or both parents born abroad, Germany contributed 24.2 per cent; Ireland, 18.5; Russia, 13.4; England, 11.9; Canada, 4.6; Scotland, 4.3; Greece, 2.7; Italy, 2.4; France, 2 per cent.

Voting and militia ages (Table 6).—The total number of males 21 years of age and over is 620,616, representing 23.8 per cent of the population. Of such males, 57 per cent are white and 43 per cent negroes. Native whites represent 55.6 per cent of the total number and foreign-born whites 1.4 per cent. Of the 8,513 foreign-born white males of voting age, 4,023, or 47.3 per cent, are naturalized. Males of militia age—18 to 44—number 497,095.

Age (Tables 7, 8, and 13).—Of the total population, 14.4 per cent are under 5 years of age, 25.4 per cent from 5 to 14 years, inclusive, 20.7 per cent from 15 to 24, 24.7 per cent from 25 to 44, and 14.6 per cent 45 years of age and over. The foreign-born white population comprises comparatively few children, only 5.4 per cent of this class being under 15 years of age, while nearly four-fifths (79.9 per cent) are 25 years of age and over.

The urban population shows a smaller proportion of children than the rural and a larger proportion of persons in the prime of life. Migration to the city explains this at least in part. Of the urban population, 32.5 per cent are from 25 to 44 years of age, inclusive, and of the rural population, 22.7 per cent.

School attendance (Table 9).—The total number of persons of school age—that is, from 6 to 20 years, inclusive—is 925,865, of whom 480,378, or 51.9 per cent, attended school. In addition to these, 7,863 persons under 6 and 6,540 of 21 and over attended school. For boys from 6 to 20 years, inclusive, the percentage attending school was 51; for girls, 52.7. For children from 6 to 14 years, inclusive, the percentage attending school was 65.6. The percentage for children of this age among native whites of foreign or mixed parentage was 84.5; among foreign-born whites, 76; among native whites of native parentage, 74.8; and among negroes, 55.4. (See Table I.) In urban communities the percentage of children of that age attending school was 74.2, and in rural, 64.

Illiteracy (Table 10).—There are 389,775 illiterates in the state, representing 20.7 per cent of the total population 10 years of age and over, as compared with 30.5 per cent in 1900. The percentage of illiteracy is 36.5 among negroes, 7.8 among native whites, and 6 among foreign-born whites. It is 8 for native whites of native parentage and 1.6 for native whites of foreign or mixed parentage.

Illiteracy is greater in rural than in urban communities for the total population—23.2 per cent as against 12—and also for each class of the population except foreign-born whites, whose literacy, since most of them arrive in this country when past the school age, is not determined by their immediate environment.

For persons from 10 to 20 years of age, inclusive, whose literacy depends largely upon present school facilities and school attendance, the percentage of illiteracy is 14.1. (See Table I.)

Marital condition (Tables 11 and 14).—In the population 15 years of age and over, 34.2 per cent of the males are single and 26.5 per cent of the females. The percentage married is 60.4 for males and 60.2 for females, and the percentage widowed, 4.8 and 12.5, respectively. The percentages of those reported as divorced, 0.3 and 0.5, respectively, are believed to be too small, because of the probability that many divorced persons class themselves as single or widowed.

That the percentage single is so much smaller for women than for men is due largely to the fact that women marry younger. Thus 19.7 per cent of the females from 15 to 19 years of age are married, as compared with 3.1 per cent of the males, and 61.6 per cent of the females from 20 to 24 years of age are married, as compared with 38.9 per cent of the males. In the next age group, 25 to 34 years, the difference largely disappears. That there is a larger proportion of widows than of widowers may indicate that men more often remarry than women, but, since husbands are generally older than their wives, the marriage relationship is more often broken by death of the husband than by death of the wife.

For the main elements of the population the percentages married among those 15 years of age and over are as follows: Foreign-born whites, 58.7 for males, 63.4 for females; native whites of native parentage, 60.2 and 61.2, respectively; native whites of foreign or mixed parentage, 50.2 and 49.5; negroes, 60.9 and 59.3.

These percentages by no means indicate the relative tendency of the several classes as regards marriage. To determine that, the comparison should be made by age periods, since the proportion married in any class is determined largely by the proportion who have reached the marrying age. Similarly, the proportion widowed depends largely on the proportion past middle life. The percentage married is somewhat higher for males, and decidedly higher for females in rural than in urban communities.

Dwellings and families.—The total number of dwellings in Georgia is 530,631, and the total number of families 553,264, indicating that in comparatively few cases does more than one family occupy a dwelling. (See Table I.) The average number of persons per dwelling is 4.9, and the average number per family, 4.7.
