

The Cherokee Phoenix mentions that dissatisfaction exists among the people of the upper districts of the nation, founded on a report that the Delegation, during their late visit to Washington, ceded to the United States a portion of the Country, which is strengthened by the protracted silence of the Delegation (occasioned by the sickness of one of the principal Chiefs) and the recent survey.—Sav. Georgian.